Current Borders of Moldova Map 12

Transnistria is a small strip of land with the Dniester River as its western border (see Map 14). The area shown in Map 14 was part of the larger area shown on Map 13. Between 1941 and 1944, this region was under Romanian administration. It was bordered on the west by the Dniester River, on the north by a line beyond Mogilev Podolskiy, on the east by the Bug River, and on the south by the Black Sea (see Map 13). More than 150,000 Jews were deported to Transnistria from Bessarabia, Bukovina and Ukraine, and more than 120,000 of them perished.
