According to the report “Jewish Heritage Sites and Monuments in Moldova”, created by the United States Commission for the Preservation of America’s Heritage Abroad, 2010:

The Jewish cemetery of Floreşti occupies an area of approximately 7,500 square meters and is surrounded by a broken masonry wall. It contains over 1,500 gravestones, but more than 75% of them are broken or toppled. The oldest stones are from the 19th century. The cemetery is still in use and it is frequently visited, but some of the gravestones have been destroyed by vandalism, and overgrowth is a seasonal problem. Local authorities and individuals occasionally clean the site, but there is no regular caretaker.

Cemetery is listed in the report in fair condition.
