

Alex Dunai

Alex Dunai graduated from the Lviv University with a degree in History in 1992. Since 1996 he has been working as a professional genealogy researcher. Among his contributions to Jewish genealogy is his discovery and translation of the official KGB martyrs' lists for Galician Jewish victims of 2nd World War. Since 1997 he has combined his professional interest in genealogy and his knowledge of Jewish life in East Central Europe to guide genealogists and others in their quest to connect historically with their ancestors and the life that was once there. Alex is fluent in English, Russian, Polish, and Ukrainian.

Session: War in Ukraine