STRICTLY FOR WOMEN

Kate and Ernest Dine with the Israeli
Prime Minister

Wednesday, the 17th January, was a red letter day in the life of Kate and Ernest Lever.

As representatives of Bristol's J.P.A., they were one of the lucky couples invited to dine at the Grosvenor Hotel, in the presence of Mr. Levi Eshkol, the Prime Minister of Israel, and his wife.

The dinner was organized to launch a new appeal for funds on Israel's behalf and to encourage all groups everywhere to keep up the tremendous effort that was inspired by the June War.

The menu was excellent, served in true Park Lane style and in every way worthy of the distinguished gathering.

No doubt Kate and Ernest will inspire us with their recharged enthusiasm at the next J.P.A. effort.

To the Editor "Women's Page".

Dear Madam,

Hairdo or Hat?

Having spent the last four hours at the hairdressers, emerging looking like an ideal nesting zone for a prize cockatoo, I find that I can no longer perch my new hat upon my head. Do I come to the Synagogue "sans hat" or stay at home?

Yours truly,

'Members Wife'
