The Jewish Cemetery of Tatarbunar
(Tatarbunary, Tatar-Bunar)
Before 1917, Tatarbunar was part of Akkerman district of Bessarabia Gubernia of Russian Empire. Now the town is in Odessa Oblast of Ukraine

ЕВРЕЙСКОЕ КЛАДБИЩЕ
Татарбунары, Одесская область, Украина

Final report, Yefim Kogan, 27 March, 2017

The photographs were donated by Pavel Kozlenko, Head of Odessa Holocaust Museum

Tatarbunary on Google Maps:
999 Jews lived in Tatarbunary in 1897, 138 Jewish businesses were in town in 1924-25, and 1202 lived in town in 1939.

The cemetery was destroyed and only one burial site remained there. It has a long beautiful inscription, you can see below with the full translation.

1 burial record with 1 photo was sent to JOWBR, JewishGen.
There are two sites in and near Tatarbunar: Jewish Cemetery with an old Holocaust memorial, and a new Monument of Victims of Holocaust, see them on the map.

Coordinates of the sites:

The Jewish cemetery: 45°49'24.6"N 029°36'0.37"E; Kievskaya street

Memorial of victims of Holocaust: 45°49'39.74"N 029°36'28.14"E; M15, Stepanova str., West of town

Old Holocaust Memorial

To the Victims of Fascism
Under this monument rests

The woman Mrs. Tsiril daughter of Menachem Mendel of blessed memory wife of

Shmuel PADVA may his lamp continue to burn brightly

Who died on (?) the (?) of Kislev and was taken on a day

That was very painful to us, a tragedy has occurred

Her family is weeping over her death

She went down to her grave at a young age

She was a dear spirit with a good heart

She left us as we moaned

Here under these clods of earth

A woman of valor rests

The eyes of her husband and sons are shedding tears

How her daughters are weeping

Woe, how have we been left

The daughter of Menachem has returned to the heavens

Her good deeds are being praised at the gates

And may she be bound up in the bundle of life

But as her body has descended into the pit

Her soul has ascended on high

And in the Garden of Eden may she attain pleasure

Tsirlya PADVA died October 26, 1918

Translated by Nathen Gabriel
During the time of fascist occupation here were brutally murdered men, women, elderly and children just because they were Jews.

This should not happen again.

Eternal memory of the fallen.